

Since my last update I've been hard at work both in Telford and Parliament. Below are a selection of stories highlighting some of what I've been doing. For more info on each click the picture.

Visiting Sir Alexander Fleming Primary School in Sutton Hill. The pupils held an excellent EU debate.

Manufacturing is important to the Telford economy. Ricoh blend sustainability and modern processes.

Dear <<First Name>>

Moving forwards

With the EU referendum out the way and the result clear, I thought it might be a good time to get in touch both about the EU referendum result as well as what I have been doing for Telford.

Whilst the country as a whole narrowly decided to leave the EU, locally in Telford we voted almost 2 to 1 to leave. Whilst there are challenges to be met, I believe this was the right decision. Britain can now move forward with confidence and take its place in a global market. From the many conversations I had with people across Telford, I was not surprised by the local result and I am proud that I share the views of the majority of my constituents.

Now we need to put Britain's interests first with stability and unity a priority and negotiate the best deal possible for our country.

As Telford's MP I will continue working hard to represent our town and ensuring that our voice is heard by Government.

Best wishes,

Lucy

Visiting Telford Firestation. They train hard to be there for us when we need them.

Telford Land Registry

On Thursday 30th June, I spoke up for Telford based Land Registry staff having met them earlier in the month to discuss the future of the Land Registry.

Keeping these jobs in Telford is a must. Many of the staff have decades of experience and skill. The Land Registry has been based in Telford since the 1980s and in that time have become an important part of the Telford business community.

I will always campaign to keep jobs in Telford and to speak up for all of our town in Parliament. As a town we have a great future ahead of us and I want to see the Land Registry a part of that.
